DATA ANALYSIS AND PROGRAM-SPECIFIC MEASUREMENTS

Your responses to the prompts for the data elements below should be for the entire program. If this APPW is for multiple degrees and/or certificates, then you MAY want to comment on each degree and/or certificate or discuss them holistically for the entire program being sure to highlight relevant trends for particular degrees and/or certificates if necessary. Responses in this document need only reference the most recent year's available data.

A. General Enrollment (Insert Aggregated Data Chart)

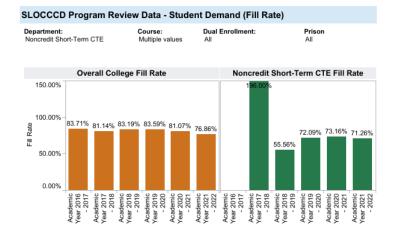

Enrollment: Duplicated count of students who completed greater than 0 units in positive attendance courses or were present on census for all other accounting methods.

Enrollments increased by 171 from 2020-2021 to 2021-2022 academic year. Overall, enrollments are increasing as we offer more in-person classes, expand course offerings to community partnering facilities, and increase on campus day programs with community partners.

B. General Student Demand (Fill Rate) (Insert Aggregated Data Chart)

Insert the data chart and explain observed differences between the program and the college.

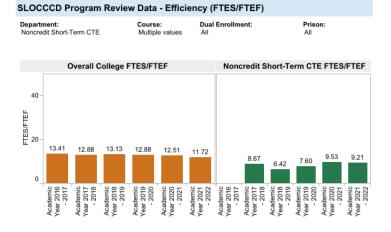

Fill Rate: The ratio of enrollments to class limits. Cross listed class limits are adjusted appropriately.

Also, courses with zero class limits are excluded from this measure.

The fill rates for Adults with Disabilities courses decreased during the pandemic. Although the program is below the college average, the program is increasing enrollments and expanding course offerings across the county. The Continuing Education Department has expanded community partnerships to agencies such as NCI, Path Point, Escuela Del Rio and Achievement House. The Continue Education Department continues to identify opportunities to expand services to adult with disabilities and increase program enrollments. The Adults with Disabilities Program has been recruiting part-time faculty to expand course offerings.

C. General Efficiency (FTES/FTEF) (Insert Aggregated Data Chart)

Insert the data chart and explain observed differences between the program and the college.

FTES/FTEF: The ratio of total FTES to Full-Time Equivalent Faculty (SXD4 Total-Hours/17.5)/XE03 FACULTY-ASSIGNMENT-FTE)

The efficiency of the Adults with Disabilities Program slightly decreased by less than 1 %. The efficiency metric will always be low for the Adults with Disabilities program due to the nature of the program for a few reasons. Adults with Disabilities, like all noncredit programs, use the positive attendance accounting method versus the census rosters. A class may start with the maximum enrollment of students, but throughout the semester the attendance may be sporadic, and all of this is factored into the data. The positive attendance accounting method should be acknowledged when considering the significance of this data as we value equity-minded practices at Cuesta College. The Continuing Education Department is working to improve efficiency through scheduling and retention efforts. We are carefully scheduling classes and have merged some sections to increase enrollments in classes. We work closely with our community partners to increase retention and persistence efforts. This has included recognition of course completion and transportation assistance. Our Continuing Education Department staff and faculty collaborate to develop a sense of campus community and belonging for this population. Through events and newsletters that highlight student success and achievement, we encourage student persistence and retention. We will continue to work on new and innovative strategies to support this newly developed program.

D. Student Success—Course Completion by Modality (Insert Data Chart)

Insert the data chart and explain observed differences between the program and the college.

The student success metric for Adult with Disabilities has been increasing since the pandemic due to the transition of back to in-person classes. The students in the Adults with Disabilities Program require in-person instruction to be more successful in the course. The Continuing Education Department offers supportive services and academic support to provide specifically for this population. Through innovative supportive strategies students have developed a sense of belonging and campus community and are more likely to succeed in their educational goals.

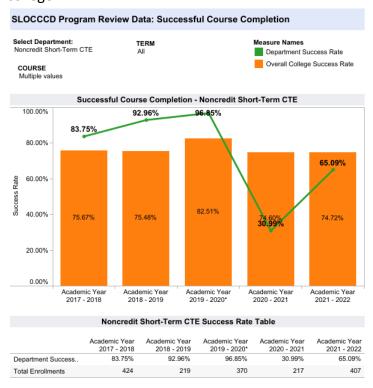

E. Degrees and Certificates Awarded (Insert Data Chart)

Insert the data chart and explain observed differences between the program and the college.

The Continuing Education Department will continue to work with Institutional Research to include noncredit certificates in the program review data.

F. General Student Success – Course Completion (Insert Aggregated Data Chart)

Insert the data chart and explain observed differences between the program and the college.

Success: The Percentage of student enrollments resulting in a final grade of "C" or bette

The success rate has nearly increased by 65% since the transition to in-person modality since the pandemic. Face to face instruction is the preferred modality for this population of students.

G. Review the Disaggregated Student Success charts; include any charts that you will reference. Describe any departmental or pedagogical outcomes that have occurred as a result of programmatic discussion regarding the data presented.

The Continuing Education Department staff and AWD faculty collaborate to implement strategies to support student success. Supportive services are very intentional for this population. Faculty and staff collaborate with community partners to identify students' needs and develop plans to address learning gaps. The Continuing Education has developed student engagement activities and success workshops to support the success of our AWD students.

E. Staffing projections

Part-time faculty

We continue to need part-time faculty to teach courses, and we have part-time hiring pools almost every year. Since we do not have any full-time faculty members, we need to pay part-time faculty on special projects. For example, part-time faculty work on retention activities, curriculum development, and student office hours funded through California Adult Education Program (CAEP). We will need to continue to pay part-time faculty to work on these essential program components.
